Flood Safety Preparedness Week

Flooding is the most common natural disaster in the United States and is the second leading cause of weather-related deaths. People should be aware of the dangers of flooding and how to be better prepared to deal with flooding emergencies. Union County Emergency Management in partnership with Georgia Emergency Management/ Homeland Security Agency and the National Weather Service, recognizes Flood Safety Preparedness Week March 7-11. The week encourages all Georgians and Union County residents to prepare for flooding.

Fire Dept. from Union County Fire Chief
David Dyer

Flooding is no stranger to our area and can quickly evolve into a dangerous and expensive situation. In the last five years, seven large-scale flooding events have made the list of 'Billion-Dollar Disasters' nationwide. In this same time, Georgia alone has documented more than 570 flash flood reports, amounting to $10.8 million.

Flood Safety Preparedness Week showcases a new tip each day to inform you and your family on the hazards, safety and preparation for floods. Flood Safety Preparedness Week will highlight the risks of flooding in the state each day and provide an opportunity for residents to learn how to take proper safety precautions.

Each day of the week has a topic. Monday, March 7 - Flood Safety, Preparedness, and Awareness: Make a plan, build a ready kit and communicate with your household and community so you're prepared in case of a flood. Tuesday, March 8 - Turn Around, Don't Drown: Never attempt to drive through floodwaters. Two feet of moving water can carry away a full-sized car. Wednesday, March 9 - Flood Hazards: Stay out of floodwaters if possible. The water can be contaminated or electrically charged. However, if your car stalls in rapidly rising waters, leave the vehicle and seek higher ground.

Thursday, March 10 - NWS Water Resources and Services: Many homeowner's insurance policies don't cover floods. Make sure you're financially ready for a flood event by visiting www.fema.gov/national-flood-insurance-program and remember, flood insurance takes 30 days to take effect, so sooner is better than later. Friday, March 11 - Partner Services: The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and the National Weather Service (NWS) can provide you with resources and tips to help you prepare

Why Putin Invaded Ukraine

Dear Editor,
Why has Putin invaded Ukraine with overwhelming force, and how will it affect us and the rest of humanity? The short answer which I have not seen discussed in the media is that Ukraine is one of the most natural resource rich countries in the world, and taking it over will enable Putin to continue his Hitler-like march of taking over all Europe. Without Ukraine, he will not have the resources to continue his re-establishing the Russian empire, formerly called the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR).

Ukraine is the largest country in Europe with the most agricultural land, has 25% of the world's richest "black" soil, and the ability to feed 600 million people. Ukraine has Europe's most proven recoverable uranium ore reserves, has the eighth largest installed nuclear power capacity in the world, second largest iron ore reserves, third largest exporter of steel, second in barley production, fourth in potatoes, fifth in rye, and fourth in total value natural resources. It is also in the Top 10 in the world production of coal, shale gas reserves, titanium, manganese, mercury, corn, wheat, chicken eggs, and ammonia exports.

When Ukraine was a slave state of the Russian dominated USSR for 70 years, it produced 47% of the entire GNP of the 13 other "Republics" under Soviet (Russian) control. From the disintegration of the USSR in 1990 until 2019, Communists were always able to

Enemies Emboldened

Dear Editor,
It has been heartwarming and inspiring to see freedom lovers around the world doing their part to support Ukraine as its citizens heroically attempt to stave off unprovoked Russian aggression and the aspirations of a ruthless, brutal tyrant. Even historically neutral Switzerland has frozen Russian bank accounts, including those of Vladimir Putin and his gangster oligarchs.

In His State of the Union address, President Biden stated: "We are inflicting pain on Russia and supporting the people of Ukraine. Putin is now isolated from the world more than ever." If true, why is the United States continuing to import Russian oil and fund Putin's war machine? Fourteen months ago the United States was energy independent and exporting American oil for the first time in 75 years. Now we are back to importing oil from countries that hate our guts, including Iran, the world's leading exporter of terrorism. We could bring Putin to his knees by sending American oil to European nations that

War and Peace

Russia has invaded Ukraine. And we thought we lived in a world where blitzkrieg would never again change European boundaries.

Russian leaders ignore the message of a classic piece of their own literature. In "War and Peace," Tolstoy weaves a tale of politics, patriotism, family, and the struggle of the human condition. In the end, the love and marriage of two young couples signal the hope of peace.

The nations try but fail to achieve peace. After World War I, the feckless League of Nations watched World War II happen.

In 1945 after WWII, the UN began. Think of all the world peace since then! The permanent members of the Security Council cannot even bring themselves to be peaceful. Russia and Ukraine currently serve together on the UN Human Rights Council, but did that stop the clanking war machines?

So how shall we think about these things? Here is a framework for thinking from a particular worldview:

(1) We will always have wars and rumors of wars until the day Jesus returns. Wars are a reminder that this is a fallen, temporary world. "See that you are not frightened." He said, "for those things must take place" (Matt. 24:6).

(2) That day may be immanent. Or not. If the Lord tarries, it's for the purposes of grace and salvation for those who believe. "The Lord is patient toward you, not wishing for any to perish but for all to come to repentance" (2 Pet. 3:9).

(3) We can work for peace on earth, but making a warless world is not the Christian's ultimate objective. We have a higher commission, to rescue victims from the chaos of separation from God. To be reconciled to God is to be a follower of Jesus. He said, "Make disciples of all the nations ... teaching them to observe all that I commanded you" (Matt. 28:19-20).

Join me in praying for the Ukrainian people bloodied by the claw of the Russian bear, and for those hapless Russian conscripts taken from their mothers. Pray "deliver us from evil," that people and nations would know the peace of Christ.

Commissioner's Questions

This week's questions/answers address some of the inquiries we have received about recycling. Hopefully the following information will add clarity to some of the materials we accept.

Q. Why do we have to separate our #1 and #2 plastics to be recycled?

A. The terms "plastic #1" and "plastic #2" refer to a plastic container's resin identification code. Put simply, this code refers to what type of polymer comprises a container (and not all plastics are created equal). Consumers can quickly identify which type of plastic a container is made from by checking for the triangle-shaped recycling symbol on the container - usually on the bottom or on a side label. Inside the symbol will be a number, 1-7, which is the resin code. This resin determines how quickly the plastic melts.

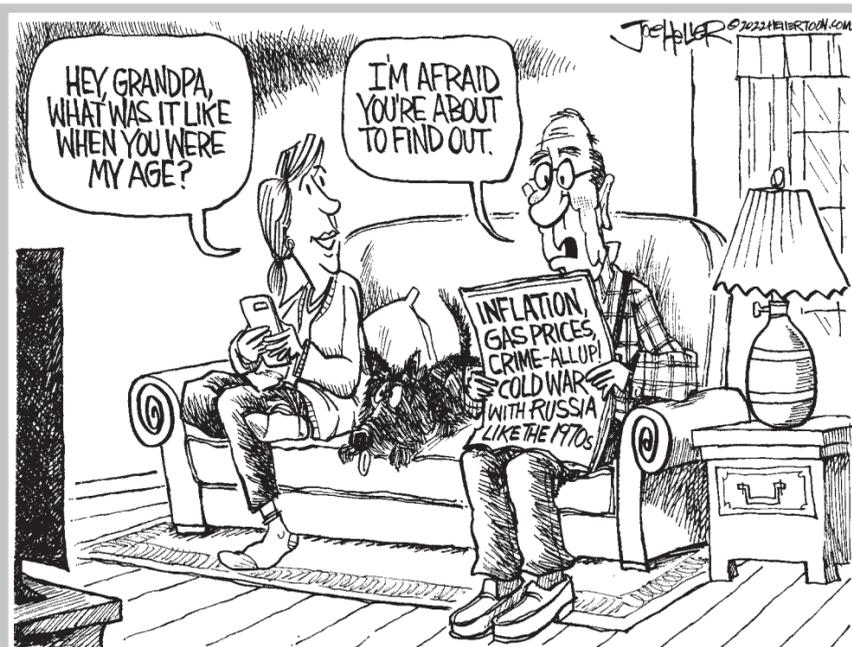

Q. Can you talk a bit more about what you mean when you say, "This resin determines how quickly the plastic melts?"

A. #1 and #2 plastics have different molecular structures once they are molded into whatever item they are going to be in their initial production process. When they are recycled, they must be melted down to make new products. This melting process is where the issue of separating comes into play. Due to their different molecular structure, they melt at different temperatures. #2 plastics having to reach a much higher melting temperature. If the two plastics are mixed together to be melted, the #1 plastic (Polyethylene Terephthalate) will be completely melted and the #2 (High Density Polyethylene) will still be in un-melted clumps. This will make the entire batch of recycled plastic useless.

Q. Why do you not accept the other resin code materials?

A. As with other materials in the recycling industry, acceptability of plastics into a recycling program is largely determined by market forces. #1 and #2 plastics are accepted into nearly every drop-off and curbside recycling program because there is strong post-consumer demand for them from manufacturers. Though plastics #3 through #7 are recyclable, there is not a strong market for them in our region.

Vote YES for ESPLOST!

Dear Editor,
My name is Doris Durbin, and I was privileged to work in the Union County School System for 26 years as a school librarian before retiring in 2011. My husband is Ed Durbin, who taught history at the high school until his retirement in 2010. We both enjoyed our work there and were proud to serve the young people of this county along with the excellent faculty and staff who became our friends. We've watched the county's schools grow and change throughout the years, and the improvements have been outstanding. One of the things that helped the schools to progress has been the penny sales tax that is referred to as ESPLOST (Education Special Purpose Local Option Sales Tax). Ed and I support the ESPLOST, and hope that voters will vote YES to renew it in May.

In the mid-1980s when I worked at the middle school, there were only three televisions and VCRs on carts for all the teachers to share, and just a few computers were becoming available. Now, our schools are well blessed with equipment that the teachers can keep in their classrooms, and all manner of technology is available to students, as well as teachers. Over the years, several new buildings have been built and old ones renovated to meet the needs of a growing population and to allow for new programs to benefit our young people. Our schools

Trust in God

Dear Editor,
In chapter 3 of the book of Proverbs, verses 5 and 6 tell us of a great promise that we can all lean on in times of trouble, and the first verse is: "Trust in the Lord with all of your heart and lean not on your own understanding." How do we trust in someone we have never seen? What does it mean to trust in the Lord with all of your heart? For me it means that I must surrender everything over to God. I can't give Him a part of my life, but by faith I must commit it all over to His sovereign control, then I can have peace about whatever comes my way, because it is no longer I who have to deal with it, but it is in the hands of the Almighty Maker of Heaven and Earth.

What happens when we decide to lean on our own understanding? For sure we will always mess things up, worse than they were before. God says in His word that His thoughts and ways are higher than ours. Proverbs 28:26 says: "He that trusts in his own heart is a fool." It is a wonderful thing to trust in Jehovah with all of your heart, to be totally committed to Him, especially

Mr. Newell

Old Man Newell was a little different. Some folks said he was a mite "quare," while others just said he was "turned funny." The bottom line was that he just didn't like young boys for some reason or another. He was always rough talking and short tempered when it came to the boys around Trapptown. No one knows the reason why, but, Old Man Newell just didn't trust any of the local boys.

Paul and Bud Cummings grew up during the late 1940s and early 1950s. They ran with the likes of Tommy Trapp, William Shel-nutt, Jerry Cohen and Hubert Brooks. These boys grew up and did everything together. They had a code and it was enforced. None of the boys ever told on another one of the boys. You might not agree with what one of the boys was doing, but you never told on your buddy.

One day during church the boys were all sitting together, and Paul (my father) noticed that Tommy Trapp had something in his pockets that was causing them to bulge. When asked about the contents of his pockets, Tommy pulled out a big nail and whispered, "I am getting even with Old Man Newell." After church the gang of boys walked outside to Old Man Newell's log truck. Tommy walked around the front of the log truck and emptied his pockets of the nails. There must've been 2 pounds of roofing nails in front of the wheels of that truck.

Paul and his younger brother, Bud, felt sorry for Old Man Newell, so, after Tommy and the other boys left, they began trying to kick the nails away from the front of the truck. At this point in time the old man came up and thought the boys had placed the nails in front of his wheels. He had a convulsion and screamed out "You boys are trying to give me a flat tire." Papa ran up to the boys and whipped them in front of the whole crowd. Paul and Bud would not tell on their buddies. So, they took the whipping without a word. But they vowed to take vengeance on Old Man Newell.

Some years later the old man's logging truck broke down and he was relegated to driving his little buggy back and forth to town. A plan was soon hatched among the boys. One Saturday in the month of June the boys, including Paul and Bud Cummings, Tommy Trapp, Jerry Cohen, William Shelnutt, and Hubert Brooks, went out to the old man's house and waited for him to go to bed. After Newell went to sleep the boys took apart his buggy and re-assembled it on top of his barn. Paul and Bud didn't make it back home until the wee hours of the morning. They slipped into the house and their beds with the

Spring Peepers

As we move from winter into spring, the nighttime seems to come more alive. More and more animals will be roaming around, and insects start to show back up outside. One of the earliest heralds of spring are the spring peepers. These little guys start coming out in February to let us know that warmer temperatures are not too far away. Let's talk about who these spring peepers are and why they are peeping.

The scientific name for the spring peeper is Pseudacris crucifer. They are a small frog that measures from one to one and a half inches long. They weigh in at about two tenths of an ounce. These tiny guys are still able to make some pretty serious noise. Their peep is high-pitched, which means that it can be heard from a mile away. I've heard the sound described like the chirp from a baby chick. The trill is brief and repeated at about one second intervals. A large number of peepers peeping at the same time is called a chorus. Large choruses can sound like sleigh bells. The males are the ones making all the noise, as they are trying to attract a mate. Their peep can become more aggressive sounding as they compete with other males for better spots to attract the females.

These little frogs are abundant in Georgia. Their skin color ranges from tan to brown to gray. Their most distinctive feature is the dark X on their back. This is also where they get their species name, crucifer. At this time of year, they start coming down from the woodlands to find a mate near a water source. Once a mate has been found, the female will lay eggs in the water that hatch into tadpoles in one to two weeks. They prefer shallow, semi-permanent pools of water. These pools are less likely to have predatory fish in them. After about two to three months, the tadpoles will undergo metamorphosis and change into a frog. These little frogs live for about 3 years. Most of their lives are spent in the woods where they eat insects. They'll consume beetles, ants, flies, and spiders. They only come down to the water's edge during their mating season.

Before coming out for mating spring peepers are in hibernation. They like to hibernate under logs and loose bark. In the winter their body fluid will freeze.

Spring peepers are hard to spot because they are so small and like to spend their time down in the brush. They have large pads on their toes for climbing, but they rarely climb very high. Most of time they do their insect hunting at night. However, if they are living in a dense, damp forest they may hunt in the day and at night. The reason for this is that frogs must be

Q. How do we make sure we are separating the items correctly?

A. #1 Plastic is usually clear or green and glossy and includes, clear and green beverage bottles, cooking oil bottles, peanut butter jars, salad dressing bottles, and water bottles. #2 Plastic is usually a milky or solid color. They are rigid and include milk jugs, detergent bottles, and shampoo bottles. Most of these containers are also marked on the bottom with a 1 or 2 in order to help you identify the two different types of plastic.

As we discussed earlier, plastics that are labeled as #4 through #7 CANNOT be taken at the recycling station.

Q. Does this mean we can recycle our salad containers, fruit containers, and butter tubs?

A. This is where things get a little complicated. We can only take items with a screw top lid. Items like salad and fruit containers have a different molecular structure even though they are labeled as #1 and #2. They are molded differently than an item with a screw top lid, so this causes them to melt at a different rate even though they have the same recycling number. Please keep in mind that recycling criteria are set by those who accept and recycle the items. The criteria are not set by the Union County Government. If companies won't buy them, we can't accept them.

Q. When we locate the correct bin for our #1 and #2 plastics, do we just dump them in?

A. Before leaving your home, please remove the caps and rinse out the containers. Leftover food, sugary syrup, and/or cleaning products can ruin a bin of recyclables. When you bring those containers to the recycle center, just dump them into the correct container. #1 products go in one bin, and #2 products go in a different bin; however, please do not put the lids/caps in either container as they are not recyclable.

Q. Will there be signage at the Recycling Centers to help us know how to separate our plastics?

A. Yes, there is signage to help you determine what plastic goes where. Each opening to the building is clearly marked. We understand that it can be confusing.

Q. Will there be anyone available to help us if we have questions?

A. Yes, if you have questions about this process, you can call 706-318-5448.

smug satisfaction of finally getting even with Old Man Newell.

They were awakened the next morning by the familiar booming voice of Old Man Newell screaming out the words, "Your boys put my wagon on top of my barn." Papa called his sons into the kitchen for breakfast and asked them about Newell's claims. The boys couldn't lie to their Daddy considering the fact that they had not cleaned the wagon grease from their hands from their escapades of the night before. The boys confessed their crimes to their Daddy and explained why they had committed them. Their Daddy listened and stated that he understood. However, they were told to go and take the wagon down from the top of the barn. They were also told to go and get the other boys to help them with the buggy.

When the boys drove up, the old man began screaming. He stood at the bottom of the barn and watched to make sure the job was done to his satisfaction. Tommy Trapp asked the other boys, "How are we going to do this?" The old man screamed, "The same way you got it up there." So, Tommy shrugged his shoulders and began taking apart the buggy. He pulled the iron wheel from the axle after the hub was removed and said, "Watch this." Tommy let go of the wheel right above the old man, and it rolled down the sloped roof of the barn. The wheel came within 6 inches of Old Man Newell's head. He must've got the message, because he left the boys alone to finish the job, and Old Man Newell never again screamed at the boys from Trapptown.

fix the elections so that a Putin stooge was elected president of Ukraine. But in 2019 Zelensky won in such an overwhelming manner, the (ex?) Communist dominated Ukrainian bureaucracy couldn't fix the elections. Ukraine finally had the possibility of reducing its government corruption and having unrestricted trade with the rest of the world, which could result in its becoming the economic powerhouse that socialism kept it from being.

Taking over Ukraine and installing Russian puppets again will enable Russia to be a world power once again – and a threat to all democratic countries. As a Ukrainian official said during the siege on Kiev, "If Democrats weren't such ps in foreign policy, this might not have happened."

The Biden administration's first acts in office were to cancel the Keystone pipeline and halt gas and oil exploration and production on U.S. federal government lands, which resulted in the USA becoming once again an importer of energy products. Cutting production resulted in the increase of energy prices, a major cause of the increased inflation we are experiencing. Also, our $350 billion in oil purchases from Russia in 2021 has financed the Russian invasion of Ukraine. As former Biden/Obama Secretary of Defense Robert Gates said, Biden "has been wrong on nearly every foreign policy and national security issue over the past four decades." Could Biden be that dumb, or could he have been bribed by our enemies to promote policies that would hurt the U.S. economy and weaken its national security?

The second verse goes like this: "In all of your ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct your path." Do you need help in today's society to find a peace that surpasses all understanding, a peace that the world cannot give? A peace that can only come from a loving and gracious God who wants you to know that He will watch over you and will protect you from the evil that clamors for our attention? God has made a straight and narrow path that leads to heaven if you will just acknowledge who He is in your life and let go and let God lead you into all truth. You will never regret making a decision to trust in God wholeheartedly as you embrace His amazing grace, how sweet the sound that saved a wretch like me.

Things you should understand about ESPLOST:

It is not a new tax, just a renewal of what is already successful in Union County. If ESPLOST does not pass, the schools will still need to be supported, and the money will have to come from higher property taxes.

ESPLOST collects one penny of sales tax from all the purchases made in our county, and that spreads the burden around. Even people passing through who eat at our restaurants or shop at our stores help to support our schools.

The best way we can continue to encourage excellence for the students of our county is to vote YES for ESPLOST!

Charlotte stated that her favorite part about working at Habitat for Humanity is her team. "I love my employees! We are a family here at Habitat. I love working together in helping those in need and brainstorming new ideas to continue the overall success of the Towns/Union Habitat."

Here at Habitat, we are always looking towards the future. Always working to do better and bring about further success in our mission of making sure everyone has a decent place to call home. Charlotte has big plans for 2022. She plans to have the 20th home build completed for the Snow family. She would also like to focus on establishing the Habitat of Towns/Union Counties into an irreplaceable position in our community, and further develop a promotion of kindness and empathy within our community through the morals, projects, and dedication of Habitat for Humanity. In addition, bring about a bigger awareness to the things that we do here at Habitat, while bringing in more support from surrounding areas, as we grow to be more and more successful in reaching those in need.

Charlotte has been with Habitat for approximately three years now and has worked at Habitat with different roles to play over the years. She believes there is always something to learn and grow from.

Looking back, she reflects, "Doing good for others is contagious; in a time that we all struggle, positive and kind energy is what communities need to survive."

No, Biden has sold out America and its allies to the climate change cultists that permeate and influence his administration, eager to bring down our nation and way of life.
